

COUGHLIN IS FREE
AND CAMP 20 HAPPY.JURY RETURNS A VERDICT OF NOT GUILTY.

As the Extra Edition of the Gazette announced last night an agreement was reached about 4:30 o'clock—Wild Scenes in Judge Tuthill's Court Room.

CHICAGO, March 9.—Dan Coughlin as done nothing to-day but shake hands with his friends who called to congratulate him. He did not sleep last night, he said, and will start on his old home in Hancock, Michigan, this afternoon, in hope of regaining his health. He will return to this city and go into business when he gets well.

The opinion is almost universal that his acquittal after the conviction of Painter, makes Chicago justice a laughing stock and a bare pretense. The jury took the case at 11:50 o'clock and at 4:45 p. m. returned this verdict: "We, the jury, find the defendant, Daniel Coughlin, not guilty."

Court convened at 10 o'clock, and Judge Tuthill at once began his charge to the jury.

Both Coughlin and the jury listened to Judge Tuthill's instruction with the closest attention. So did the crowded court room. The charge was very full and if anything in favor of the defendant, the judge cautioning the jury that if any reasonable doubt existed in their minds about the guilt of Coughlin he must be given the benefit of the doubt and acquitted.

The jury was out only about six hours and came into court with the verdict as above announced. When their decision was read there was absolute silence in the court-room while a man might count ten. Then a bailiff reached forward and shook hands with Coughlin. That broke the spell, and wild cheer went up. Another followed it, and another, and another. Men climbed on chairs, invaded the jury box, patted Coughlin on the back, tried to shake hands with the judge, cheered and laughed.

When order had been somewhat restored Judge Tuthill thanked the jury for their attention and services and dismissed them.

The meeting between Coughlin and his devoted wife was most affecting. With infinite difficulty she made her way through the crowd toward her husband and Coughlin, who was talking with the jurors, wheeled with a cry of delight at his wife, blind with tears, groped her way down the lane which the men in the court room made for her.

"O, my husband! My husband! Thank God!" said Mrs. Coughlin, as she was clasped in her husband's arms. That meeting was a thing to see and to think of, but not to talk about. Toughened old campaigners, with hearts as dry as summer's dust, found there was a soft spot in them still as they watched the twain. All the jury knew her by sight, and many pressed forward to shake her hand and give her kindly greeting. But she could not talk, she could only sob and shake hands.

When seen at his home last night Attorney Bottum said he had little to say about the jury, the trial, or the verdict. When the case went to the jury that ended it as far as he was concerned, and he was not in the court room when the verdict was read. All he cared to say was that the public could form its own opinion. The jury had evidently done as it had thought best.

Judge Richard S. Tuthill did not care to discuss the verdict. He said: "Really, I can say nothing about the case. All I had to say was to the jury. That has already been made public."

Attorneys Wing and Donahue of the defense were of course much pleased with the action of the jury, the former saying, however, that in the face of the evidence there was nothing else they could do.

MANY CLAIMS FORFEITED.

Decision in an Oklahoma Land Case Will Cause Trouble.

GUTHRIE, O. T., March 9.—A decision of the "sooner" question just received from the general land office causes consternation among thousands of claim holders in Oklahoma and the Cherokee strip. The decision is in a Payne county contest, and is that the man crossed the county prior to the opening, and even though he did not select a claim or pass near the claim he afterward took, the fact of crossing any portion of the land made him a "sooner" and he consequently loses his right to take a home

CLINTON'S FAT BIT
IN HOSTILE HANDS.THE REPUBLICAN POSTMASTER
SMILES AND DRAWS PAY.

Democrats at War Over the Spoils of Office and in the Meantime R. W. Cheever Acts Perfectly Satisfied—Budlong, Wright, Hasse and Cronkite Have Been Mentioned.

CLINTON, March 9.—R. W. Cheever is about the last republican postmaster in Rock County to hold his job. His term has been out for some time but his successor has not been agreed upon. The postoffice fight here is rather a silent one and clothed in mystery. The most likely candidate was Mr. Budlong, the telegraph operator for the C. & N. W., but he was recently appointed station agent here and the delay in the appointment of postmaster is generally considered to mean that he will not now be the man. He was thought to have the backing of Mr. Woodward, the most prominent democrat of this place.

Dr. O. C. B. Wright is a candidate and appears to be quite sanguine of his appointment. He sent a petition to headquarters last fall, quite numerous signed by the patrons of the office but his opponents say he has not been active enough in political circles to be a very dangerous competitor.

A. F. Hasse is a stirring medicine man whose political history is that he has been twice elected alderman on the license ticket. He is a big gun in the Lutheran church and has much influence with the German voters.

The choice of the people among all the available timber that can be presented by the democrats of this place is probably H. N. Cronkite, the former postmaster of the democratic administration. He proved a most efficient and obliging official and is by all odds the one most to be desired. But he says he is not in it. There is but very little excitement over the contest, the patrons having become reconciled to the inevitable and apparently consider one democrat about as good as another. Curiosity over the outcome is about all the interest they manifest. Meanwhile Mr. Cheever wears a democratic cap and a sort of a free trade smile and pockets the spoils of office.

FLOOD AT JOLIET.

Further Rise Expected—One Death at Lockport.

JOLIET, Ill., March 9.—The flood conditions yesterday were much improved, although more trouble is expected. The rain is coming down from the hills and overriding the fall of the river. At Lockport and above on the drainage channel everything is quiet. All the employees who retreated to the bluffs are still there, waiting for the waters to go down so as to return to their camps. If the river continues to rise the lowlands for a distance of half a mile on each side of the river bed will be under water soon, and grave fears are expressed for Joliet. Already a portion of the city near the river is inundated and great damage will result to the flats in the city. So far as reported only one death has occurred, that being a Lemont man, who was found dead in the flood at Lockport, but is so far unidentified.

TALK FOR LICENSE.

Senate of the Iowa Legislature Debates the Liquor Question.

DES MOINES, Iowa, March 9.—The senate took a turn at the liquor question yesterday. The republican bill to regulate the tariff was taken up and Senator Funk, chairman of the committee having charge of the measure, advocated its passage. He recounted the history of prohibition laws in the state and said that state prohibition was a failure, and that the people desired a change. According to the terms of the last republican platform the change promised was local option and that was what the present bill tried to give.

It is probable the democrats will offer their bill as a substitute for the Carpenter bill to-day.

In the house yesterday the motion to substitute the democratic bill for the house bill was supported by Representatives Robinson, Taylor and Parker.

To Guard Against Splenic Fever.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 9.—The state live stock commission has adopted the boundary line established by the United States government relative to splenic, or southern, fever of cattle, and will issue a proclamation prohibiting the importation of cattle from points south of that line, except under regulations prescribed by the board.

Spanish Cabinet Quits Office.

MADRID, March 9.—The cabinet has resigned, and the queen regent has charged premier Sagasta with the work of constructing a new ministry. The cabinet resigned after an exciting sitting which lasted seven hours, and which revealed the fact that a serious divergence of opinion existed among the members on the proposed economic and colonial reforms.

Fire Destroys Homestead Property.

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 9.—Fire at Homestead last night destroyed Walton's hotel, Grove & Trealer's general store, Ed Cronin's furniture store and Bagley's steam laundry. The hotel guests were compelled to leave the building in their nightclothes. J. B. Jones, a fireman, was seriously burned

DYNAMITE AT ROME
SPREADS DEATH.ONE MAN INJURED BY AN-ARCHISTS EXPIRES.

Conspirators Exploded a Bomb Near the Chamber of Deputies and Many Bystanders Were Injured—One Dead and Two Others Known to Be Fatally Hurt.

ROME, March 9.—One of the men injured in the explosion last night, died this morning. Two others will die. The explosion, which is reported to be the work of anarchists, occurred here at 8 o'clock last evening. The explosion took place on the Piazza di Monte Citorio, near which stands the chamber of deputies.

A sitting of the chamber had just been concluded, and it is believed that the bomb or infernal machine was exploded almost in front of the chamber, but the police being in complete possession of the Piazza di Monte Citorio full particulars are unattainable.

The explosion shattered all the windows in the neighborhood and at least 25 persons were wounded. A deafening report was heard immediately after the explosion, and it attracted large crowds of people to the spot, filling all the streets leading to the Piazza di Monte Citorio.

The police immediately after the explosion swarmed to the spot in large numbers, and it is said, succeeded in making several important arrests.

Rome to-day is in a state of great excitement and all sorts of rumors are in circulation, among them being the report that an attempt was made to blow up the chamber of deputies.

It is also said that the police have obtained valuable information from one of the men taken into custody, and that the authorities are in possession of evidence which would seem to point to a widespread conspiracy to cause explosions in Rome.

BLEW OPEN THE SAFE.

Michigan Central Depot Office at Dyer, Ind., Robbed.

LAPORTE, Ind., March 9.—It was reported here yesterday that the Michigan Central depot at Dyer Station was robbed of a large amount of money last night.

The station is at a lonely spot and there is no night operator employed there. When the agent arrived at the depot in the morning about 9 o'clock he discovered the evidences of the robbery and at once gave the alarm.

Searching parties were sent out, but thus far no clue to the depredators has been discovered. The robbers effected an entrance to the building by prying open the doors with crowbars. Holes were drilled in the door of the safe and these were filled with giant powder, which was ignited by means of a fuse, and the door was blown from its fastenings. The amount of money obtained by the burglars was small and will probably not exceed $5. The robbery is supposed to be the work of local cracksmen who were familiar with the surroundings.

Tried to Bribe a Juror.

LIMA, Ohio, March 9.—There were startling developments yesterday in the matter of the indictment of Frank L. Langan, ex-cashier of the defunct Lima National bank. Benjamin C. Faurot, ex-president of the bank; ex-Sheriff M. P. Hoagland, and H. E. Hall were cited to appear before Judge Richie on a charge of contempt of court in attempting to bribe a juror. M. L. Baker, a grand juror, went before the judge and made a sworn statement, which resulted in the citation. Both Faurot and Hall will be arraigned before Judge Richie to-day, when more developments in the celebrated case will be brought out.

Boiler of a Locomotive Explodes.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., March 9.—The boiler of a locomotive on the Lehigh Valley railroad exploded at Tannery last evening, killing three men. Their names are John Dottor, brakeman; Edward Fox, brakeman, and John Lennay, fireman. Patrick Dugan was in charge and stopped his engine at Tannery and went to the telegraph office for orders. During his absence the locomotive was blown to pieces. All the dead were new hands, having taken the places of brotherhood men in the late strike. The cause of the explosion was low water in the boiler.

Poles Swept Over a Dam.

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 9.—A small boat in which were four men was swept over dam No. 1 on the Monongahela river above this city at 2:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon by the rapid current and two of the men were drowned. The wife of one of the men witnessed the accident from the shore and in her frenzy jumped into the river to drown herself, but was rescued. The men were Poles and their names could not be learned.

Bank Embezzler Insane.

DENTER, Mich., March 9.—Orla C. Gregory, late assistant cashier of the Dexter bank and the self-confessed robber of the bank, has become insane. Yesterday he lay down upon his bed all day, every muscle of his body in constant agitation, moaning at intervals, "Don't let them get me." Since his confession he has recognized no one. Physicians say it is doubtful if he will ever recover.

Louis Kossuth Very Weak.

TURN, March 9.—Louis Kossuth has suffered a relapse and is very weak.

SHOT AT A MEETING
OF TEXAS A. P. A.ANTI-CATHOLIC TALK AT DAL-LAS RAISES CAIN.

Organizer Hiles' Visit Provokes An Outbreak—Two Men Wounded by a Drunken Saloon Keeper During a Speech—Armed Police Force in Possession of Denver's Hall.

DALLAS, Texas, March 9.—The A. P. A. movement struck Dallas last night and came very near opening with a bloody tragedy. L. W. Hile, editor of the American Eagle of Kansas City and organizer of the A. P. A., advertised to lecture at the city hall. Four hundred persons were present. Hile made a bitter attack upon the Jesuits and Catholic church. He was interrupted by a drunken saloon-keeper in the rear of the hall, Tom Duffy by name. Duffy said with a wild oath: "You lie," and drawing his revolver fired four shots wildly. Hile reached for his valise to get his revolver and Duffy, in the great uproar that followed, made his escape. J. G. Russell was shot in the neck, receiving a bad wound by a stray bullet from Duffy's pistol, and an unknown Frenchman had a piece of his right cheek removed. After the excitement had subsided Hile resumed his lecture and made a terrific onslaught upon the Catholics. Tom Duffy, who precipitated the row, has been drinking heavily for six months. He was formerly a well known railroad man. Bad blood has already been engendered, and there is no telling where it will stop.

TO FIGHT THE MILITIA.

Police Force of Denver is Now Massed at the City Hall.

DENVER, Colo., March 9.—The city police are massed at the city hall under orders from Police Commissioners Orr and Martin, upon whom Gov. Waite yesterday served notices of removal to prevent their successors, Dennis Mullins and S. D. Barnes, from taking possession of the offices. It is believed the governor intended to call out the militia if necessary to install the new commissioners in office.

Writs were served on all the interested parties last evening. The governor was wild with rage. He arranged, it is said, to pounce down on the headquarters and forcibly take possession. "These men have got to go," he said. At the city hall, where there is no sign of concern, the force is in readiness and well prepared to resist any attack which may be made. Chief Kellogg is in charge. Sheriff Burchinell has a large force of deputies who will assist in preventing the new commissioners from taking forcible possession.

DENOUNCE THE ELECTION CRIME.

Citizens of Troy Hold Mass Indignations Meetings.

TROY, N. Y., March 9.—A public meeting of citizens to protest against the alleged irregularities practiced here on last election day, and to denounce the murder of Robert Ross, was held last night. The Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church was filled to the doors, and an overflow meeting was held in the Fifth Avenue Baptist church. Addresses were given by the same speakers to the two audiences, which numbered more than 5,000 persons. The Rev. L. M. S. Haynes presided at the main meeting. He said the responsibility for Ross' murder rested with the forced system of elections prevailing.

WAR AT EAGLE ENDED.

Strikers Confer with Authorities and Will Probably Resume Work.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 9.—By request of a committee from the United Mine laborers, the organization to which all the strikers belong, a conference was held at Eagle between representatives of the strikers and the military and civil authorities. The miners will probably resume. The operators all say that resumption must be at a reduction. Company K. from this city returned to-day. Affairs are now regarded as settled so far as riots are concerned.

The preliminary trial of the strikers is in progress at Fayetteville and will consume several days.

Lumpy Jaw Among Arkansas Cattle.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 9.—Lumpy jaw has broken out among 500 head of cattle fed at one of the cottonseed oil mills in this city, and much excitement prevails in consequence, as it is charged that several butchers slaughtered many of the diseased cattle and sold the meat. The cattle were brought here from Texas three months ago, and several shipments have been made from here to Northern points.

Indiana's First Trial is Satisfactory.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., March 9.—The new battleship Indiana arrived at its wharf at Cramps' shipyard at 2:30 yesterday afternoon after a most successful builders' trial trip. The builders are pleased with the behavior of the big ship and feel confident that it will win a good sized premium on its official trial.

Mr. Gladstone Is Better.

LONDON, March 9.—A bulletin issued by the physicians in attendance upon Mr. Gladstone announces that the distinguished statesman has improved in health.

DEPOT THIEVES
SHOW FIGHT.DELAVAN WOMAN'S TRUNK
LOOTED AND BURNED.

Marshal Sees the Thieves at Work and Uses His Revolver to Bring One of Them, a Farmer's Son, to a Halt—The Boy May Die of the Injuries Received.

DELAVAN, March 9.—Miss Mary Converse's trunk was broken open by thieves a few nights ago, while it was lying in the depot at Fox Lake. Two thieves named Eugene Hughes and W. H. Murphy, were discovered in the depot by Marshal Davis, who drew his revolver as soon as he found them, and ordered Hughes to throw up his hands. The men started to run, and Davis fired a couple of times in the air, when Hughes turned and aimed his revolver at the marshal. The officer was too quick for him and fired, the bullet striking him in the breast. Hughes fought savagely after being wounded but was finally captured, and the doctors think he cannot live. He is the son of a farmer living in the vicinity of Fox Lake. On looking after their depredations, it was found that Hughes had broken open Miss Converse's trunk and after stealing what he pleased, set it on fire. But for its discovery the building would soon have been in flames.

"THE RIPPER" FOUND.

The Whitechapel Fiend Discovered in an Asylum.

LONDON, March 9.—The fact has developed, although so far it has been kept a profound secret, that the authorities have got on the track of "Jack the Ripper." The information leaks out from Scotland Yard, and has been guardedly confirmed by a leading officer of the metropolitan police. The atrocious criminal, it is said, is an inmate of the government lunatic asylum at Dartmoor, in which he was incarcerated within a few weeks after the last Whitechapel horror, the authorities having no knowledge of his antecedents at the time of his committal as an insane pauper with homicidal tendencies. The Scotland yard authorities have possession of the knife, which is of Chinese make, with which the Whitechapel murders were committed. They are also familiar with the ripper's movements during the intervals between the murders, and have been able to trace him to the asylum after his last crime.

Although pronounced incurably insane by the asylum physicians the man has a clear recollection of the past, and all his conversations and remarks have reference to his crimes in the East End. Correspondence has passed between the government criminal department and the asylum authorities relative to the murderer's condition, and as to whether now or at any time in the near future he is or will be likely to be sufficiently rational to be placed on trial. The result of these inquiries has not yet been disclosed.

BRECKINRIDGE CASE GOES OVER
New Testimony Causes a Postponement of the Trial.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The trial of the $50,000 damage suit of Mandeline N. Pollard against Congressman W. C. P. Breckinridge will be opened to-day. Yesterday twelve white men were accepted as jurors, five colored members of the panel being excused by the attorneys. Ben Butterworth appeared as counsel for Col. Breckinridge, to succeed Col. Totten, and on the excuse that Mr. Butterworth was not sufficiently prepared and because of the great amount of evidence received the defendant's counsel asked for continuance. Judge Bradley assented and the trial was passed until 10 o'clock to-day. Col. Breckinridge was present during the proceedings, but Miss Pollard was not. She had just started for the court-room when she was notified of the postponement. Mr. Wilson, for Miss Pollard, gave notice that all the affidavits taken for the defendant would be objected to on the ground that they were irrelevant and much of their contents hearsay.

Irrigation in South Dakota.

HURON, S. D., March 9.—The irrigation convention closed last evening after a two days session. Plans were inaugurated for securing state and national aid in adopting a practical system of irrigation in South Dakota.

RICHMOND, Va., March 9.—The Virginia legislature has defeated a bill to require the United States flag to be raised on public schoolhouses.

M'FAIL NOT SHAKEN
BY ROSTER FORCES.SEARCHING CROSS EXAMINA-TION DOESN'T WORRY HIM.

Former Publisher of the Times Was so Closely Identified With the Jobbers that He Knows All Their Secrets and Is Not Slow to Draw the Curtain.

MADISON, March 9.—W. J. P. McFail was on the witness stand in the roster case all the morning. He was so closely identified with the roster transaction as publisher of the Madison Times that he knew all the secrets of the capitol conspirators, and his evidence was very damaging. After a short time the cross examination was begun, Clarence Clark being the first. He was followed by Flanders and Luse. The defense tried to shake his testimony but did not succeed in doing so at any material point. He stated that he had become so closely connected with the other plaintiffs in the case that he felt obliged to appear as a plaintiff even if he had no financial interest in the suit.

ASSAULTED BY STRIKERS.

Desperate Battle Between Silk Weavers and Police at Preston, N. J.

PATERSON, N. J., March 9.—Two thousand striking silk weavers when the mills closed last night, lay in wait for Frank Newkirk, who had returned to work after going out on a strike. When Newkirk appeared he was hooted and jeered. He started to run and the mob followed. He was knocked down and assaulted with fists and stones. Two policemen went to Newkirk's rescue and fought their way to his side. When the trio were finally clear of the mob the rioters fell in behind and began stoning them. On the way to the police station assistance was received from other officers and the crowd was beaten back.

On arriving at the police station it was found that Newkirk was badly bruised and cut and the policemen were slightly hurt. Before he was overpowered Newkirk struck out with an iron bar, and several of the rioters were badly injured. Arrests will follow.

Judge McDill's Successor.

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 9.—P. J. Smalley, secretary of the democratic central committee, has forwarded to Washington a petition signed by Commissioner of Pensions Lochren, Secretary of Agriculture Morton, Congressman Hall and Baldwin, ex-Congressman Wilson, all the judges of the Minnesota Supreme court and fifty others asking President Cleveland to name as the successor to Judge McDill, deceased, on the inter-state commerce commission, George L. Becker of Minnesota.

Women Will Stump Kansas.

TOPEKA, Kan., March 9.—Mrs. Laura M. Johns and her associate managers of the equal suffrage campaign have planned to hold two-day meetings in each of the 105 counties in the state commencing May 4. Among the speakers will be Susan B. Anthony, Mrs. Johns, Carrie Lane Chapman, and other leading woman's rights leaders.

Gresham Preparing a Reply.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The President has turned over to the secretary of state the preparation of an answer to the Morgan resolution calling for information relative to the landing of British troops at Bluefields, Nicaragua. The matter is already under way, and when the answer is complete it will be submitted to the President and carefully considered by himself and Secretary Gresham.

To Be Tried in Another County.

ATLANTIC, Iowa, March 9.—The cases against A. W. Dickerson, cashier of the Cass County bank, for fraudulent banking came up in the District court yesterday. His attorneys filed a claim for a change of venue, and the state's attorney asked for time to file a counter petition and the case has gone over until next week. Yetzer was not arraigned and Isaac Dickerson has not been found.

New Jersey Senatorial Contest.

TRENTON, N. J., March 9.—Arguments in the senatorial contest were begun before the full bench in the state supreme court yesterday. The case for the democratic contestant was stated by E. V. Lindabury and that for the republican by Cortland Parker.

TEMPE, Ariz., March 9.—The Tempe hotel is burning and there is a chance that the entire business portion of the town will be wired out.

ROCK MUST BEWARE THE WHEAT CACTUS.

FARMERS WARNED AGAINST USING RUSSIAN SEED.

Weevil is not the Greatest Danger to Be Feared From the Imported Varieties—The New Plague is Worse Than Canada Thistles and Can't Be Eradicated.

Rock county farmers are being advised not to buy the World's Fair samples of seed wheat from Russia and Austria. This is not merely because the seed is infected with weevil but because of a more serious plague—the Russian cactus.

"The imported wheat made all the trouble out in Dakota," said a prominent Rock county man who has been up there lately. "I talked with a great many farmers and they are thoroughly discouraged. The cactus is worse than the Canada thistle ever thought of being for it is so tough it cannot be cut by a mower and it mats so closely that horses have the skin stripped off their legs in plowing."

MILTON TALKS OF TOWN OFFICIALS.

K. Killam Will Be Re-elected—Very Little Change Is Likely.

MILTON, March 8.—The time for nomination town officers will soon be at hand and people are talking the matter up. No opposition to Chairman Killam has developed and in fact there is likely to be but little change made in the present list of officials. Gazette subscribers here are very much pleased with the semi-weekly issue which gives them two papers for the price of one. Many will drop other weeklies, which they are taking at the expiration of their subscriptions and subscribe for the Gazette. The family of Rev. G. M. Cottrell of Nortonville, Kansas are expected here this week and will make this village their home. The reverend gentleman is the general agent for the Seventh day Baptist Tract Society. N. P. Palmer has moved into the Eldridge house on the southeast corner of the park. The H. F. Clarke house has been rented to a man by the name of Babcock, from Garwin, Iowa. Mr. Merrill, representing the Chicago Record, was a visitor here this week. The latest thing in the social line was given under the auspices of the Congregational Y. P. S. C. E. Thursday evening at the residence of Mrs. Belle Spaulding. It was a "masquerade" social and refreshments were served. The program included music, recitations and a "topsy turvy." Du Lac lodge conferred the initiatory degree Monday night. Visiting brothers from lodges at Minneapolis, Juda and Milton Junction were present. The lodge will have work in the same degree next Monday evening. George Downie, of Ashland, shook hands with acquaintances in this village Tuesday. D. A. Holmes is on the road for the Racine Fire Extinguisher company. Last week he sold a two thousand dollar engine to the city of New London and a large number of hand machines at different points. Miss Williams, of the Kindergarten Department in the public school, is still obliged to use her crutches and is not improving as fast as her friends desire. The semi-annual concert of the musical department of Milton college will begin under the direction of Prof. Crandall, teacher of violin, on Monday evening. Program includes string quartettes, violin solos and duets, piano solos and vocal solos. Jacob Fort, father of Mrs. A. M. Hall, died Monday night. He had been a resident of this township for many years and was an aged man. The funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the house, Rev. W. H. Summers officiated, assisted by Rev. E. D. Farnham. Oscar Crumb is much better and expects to be out in a day or two. W. A. Thompson has been spending some days in Janesville and Johnston. The boys began playing ball on the park yesterday. Professor Kumlien, who is the leading authority on natural history, predicts an early spring, basing his opinion on the appearance, a month earlier than usual, of certain varieties of birds. We hope he is a true prophet. Martin Carke, who will soon have a train on the St. Paul road if he gets what he deserves, is taking a "lay off" this week. The winter term of the college closes next Wednesday and the spring term begins on the 28th. The outlook for a good attendance is encouraging. Mrs. Thomas Rogers, of Whitewater, was a visitor here this week. Mrs. Bessie Waterman Brown, of Janesville, is the guest of her parents this week. J. C. Plumb returned Wednesday from a business trip to Minnesota and Iowa. Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Plumb rejoice in the possession of a new-born son. Grandpa Plumb has now eleven grandsons. Mrs. E. H. Gifford, who has been quite ill from the effects of vaccination is now improving slowly.

WHOOPIING COUGH IN LIMA.

Many Children Sick—Good Templars Will Try to Organize.

LIMA CENTER, March 9.—Many Lima children are sick with whooping cough, some dangerous. Last Wednesday evening, the M. E. Quarterly Conference, was held with the Lima church, conducted by the Presiding Elder, Rev. Frank Pease, who preached an able and instructive sermon from the words, "Take Not Thy Holy Spirit From Me." Mrs. George Fuller, entertained Mrs. Esterly and Mrs. Lenmore, of Whitewater, last Thursday. Mrs. Ora Glennon, of Milwaukee, visited her parents last Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gould. The Good Templars of Lima, are trying to organize, and get the lodge in running order again. Rev. J. F. Bray exchanged pulpits last Sabbath with Rev. S. Hannpert, of the North Presbyterian church. Mrs. S. Bullock of Whitewater, visited her daughter, Mrs. H. S. James, from Friday until Monday.

AFTER A BUTTER FACTORY.

Johnston Cheese Factory Patrons Talk About the Prospects—Farms For Sale.

NORTH JOHNSTOWN, March 9.—The patrons of the Palmer cheese factory are talking very strongly of converting it into a butter factory, in the near future. Mrs. Eugene Brotherton went to Chicago last Saturday to visit her sister Carrie. Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Bullock visited at A. Johnson's, in Lima, last Wednesday. W. H. Newton lost a horse last week. Mrs. James Brown has not been as well for the past few weeks. George Traver, has put up a building, and placed his engine in it, and now is ready to grind feed. C. W. Bullock offers his farm near the church for sale, at fair price, low interest, with length of time to pay for it. On account of the bad going the Ladies Aid Society is postponed for two weeks. The next one will be held at Rev. I. S. Jones', Wednesday afternoon, March 21.

INSPECTION IS CLOSE AT HAND.

Captain Glass Getting His Men in Shape for the Annual Ordeal.

Captain Glass is working his men hard in anticipation of the annual inspection. In an order to the regimental commanders of the state Adjutant General Falk calls attention to the fact that the time for the inspection is due and the order from the inspecting officer may be expected at any time. He also said that companies which had a low standing last year will be expected to show a creditable degree of improvement or the advisability of mustering them out of the service and substituting a new company will be seriously considered.

HE HAS CATARRHAL BRONCHITIS

This Condition Indicates That the Disease Has Extended Down the Windpipe.

"A patient telling his symptoms a few days ago," says Dr. McChesney, "described Bronchial Catarrh very correctly, as follows:

"I did not doctor much for my sickness as some days I felt fine and at night it would wear off but it did not gradually get worse, caught fresh cold, and now I find my nose discharges a great deal. Scabs came from it; sometimes pus and a little blood are blown out, the back part of my throat feels rough. I hawk up a great deal of phlegm. There is a roaring or buzzing sound in my ears. Besides this my breath smells bad and my voice is so changed I often seem to talk through my nose. I believe this plaguey disease has gone down into my wind pipe and into my bronchial tubes as I feel at times all stuffed up as though the air had hard work finding its way into my lungs. I am a little short of breath, I find, if I go up stairs quickly or walk fast.

"I have a dull pain in my chest behind the breast bone and under my shoulder blade; this pain comes and goes, lasts a few days and then is gone, is a few more days only to return again. I have a dry cough that comes on in spells; is a hacking cough mostly, and bothers me most at night. At first I only raised a little tough mucus with the cough and caused me great difficulty in bringing it up. Now I raise considerable and I find that I cough most on going to bed and arising in the morning. As soon as the cold air strikes me with my clothes off, it starts me coughing."

"If bronchial catarrh be not attended to and cured," says Dr. McChesney, "then the disease extends into the air cells in the lungs and catarrhal consumption is the result. This condition is indicated by the patient having severe fits of coughing, so severe at times as to cause vomiting. The material brought up is a frothy yellow, or mixed with blood. The stomach becomes weak, there is a disgust for food. The voice becomes weak and husky or sounds like a man talking down a well. There is a burning pain in the throat. The cough is more troublesome at night and night sweats come on in some cases toward morning."

Dr. McChesney cures catarrhal bronchitis.

FIRE INSURANCE COSTS TOO MUCH.

JANESVILLE NOT THE ONLY
TOWN IMPOSED UPON.

Residents of Jefferson Will Organize a Home Mutual Company of Their Own—Patricide at Richland Center News From Other Towns Within a Stone's Throw of Janesville.

Janesville is not alone in the fight for lower fire insurance rates. Jefferson people are in the same boat and are going to organize their own mutual company. A meeting has been called to consider the project. The people think this is a move in the right direction and say that it is an outrage that the old line companies should raise that town when they had such small losses. The loss since 1872 has not exceeded one-eighth of the amount paid in premiums.

Made a Potato Thief Pay $514.

Robert Harper cut a big club at Monroe and went after dishonest Kansas City commission men. He put up a little trap, into which the swindling firm easily fell, and when caught, fairly were only too anxious to settle. They paid for the potatoes they had reported "frost-bitten" and had stolen. They also paid for the carload shipped last fall, which they reported short and damaged. The swindling firm also paid Rob's expenses, interest on the money and the price of the potatoes as per invoice, in all about $514.

CRANKY HOTEL GUESTS.

Some Insist Upon Having Their Beds Placed in Certain Ways.

"I cannot sleep in that room," said a guest at the Hotel Denechaud, New Orleans, the other evening as he walked to the desk in the office and threw the key upon it.

"What is the matter with it?" asked Justin Denechaud, who was behind the desk at the time.

"There is nothing the matter with it, except that the bed is in the wrong place," the guest replied. "For more than twenty years I have slept in a bed with the head toward the north, and it has become such a habit with me that it would be actually impossible for me to sleep in a bed with the head in any other direction."

"It will be impossible for me to give you a room containing a bed in that position," said the clerk, as he ran his eye over the list of rooms. The hotel is well filled to-night and I have only two vacant rooms, but I will have the bed turned for you," and calling a porter, Mr. Denechaud instructed him to turn the bed in the gentleman's room so that the head would be to the north. The guest followed the porter upstairs, and, as nothing further was heard of him, it is presumed that he retired and slept the sleep of the blessed.

"There is no accounting for taste," said Mr. Denechaud, turning to a Times-Democrat reporter, "and the funny experiences we have in the hotel business would fill a volume. You noticed that gentleman just now who demanded that his bed be turned with the head toward the north."

Before the night is over we may have calls for beds with their heads turned to every point of the compass, and, of course, we are obliged to accommodate every one. I remember an instance like this several years ago. A gentleman, slightly under the influence of liquor, came into the hotel one night, and, producing a pocket compass, said he wished a room where the head of the bed should be placed to the northeast. We sent two boys with the man and they placed the bed as requested. The joke about it was that the compass was furnished with a little stop, which held the indicator in a certain position, and it so happened that the gentleman's bed, which had been carefully placed directly northeast according to the compass, was in reality so placed that the head was directly to the south. The gentleman discovered the mistake the next morning, and, I presume, was cured of the fad."

HOPE FOR THE HAIRLESS.

Professor Birkholz, of Chicago, Gives Hope to Those Afflicted with Baldness—A "No Cure, No Pay" Treatment.

Professor G. Birkholz, of Chicago, the eminent German specialist, who for years has devoted his time and talent to the study of the hair follicles, and who has evolved the most successful treatment for baldness the world has ever known.

He will carefully examine each case and candidly inform the inquirer whether his baldness can be cured and the hair be restored. These examinations are made without charge.

In all cases where there are any hair follicles remaining undestroyed by age or disease the professor will undertake a cure, and if he does not effect a restoration of the hair he will ask no pay.

The remedy is an importation, and the treatment given by the professor is his own, and cures where all others fail. If your case has been pronounced incurable do not take it as a final answer until you have seen Professor Birkholz and received his opinion.

Many persons have small bald spots through the hair. These increase in area and in time produce baldness. In such cases the hair follicles need nourishment. A prompt treatment will bring them into activity and restore the hair.

The success that has attended Professor Birkholz everywhere enables him to give a positive opinion in each case presented to him. Those who are bald or are threatened with baldness should not delay treatment, but call upon the professor at once. 1011 Masonic Temple Chicago.

Hand this notice to any first-class drug list and he will get the remedy for you at once, if he has not got it in stock.

HERE IS A PRETTY PRIVATE CAR TALE.

Anti-Gambler Quinn Loved the Evangelist's Pretty Daughter.

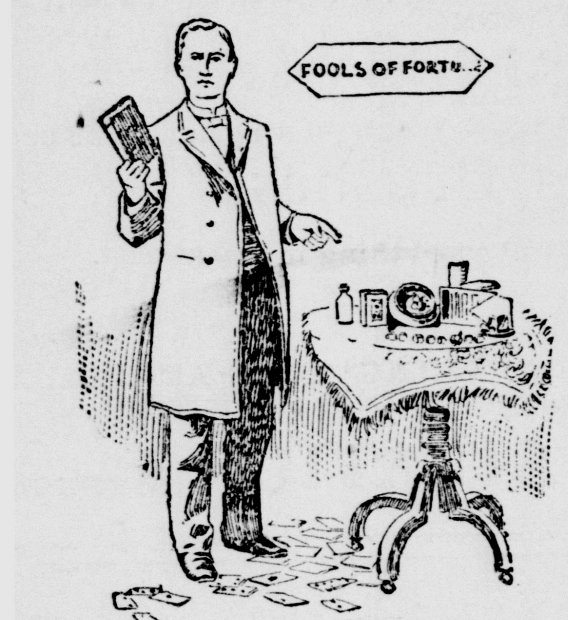

THEIR SENSATIONAL ELOPEMENT.

He Is Forty-seven and She Seventeen. Quinn Has Had a Picturesque Career, and Elopement Is Not a New Experience to Him—His Anti-Gambling Car.

Very extraordinary and romantic was the recent elopement of John Philip Quinn and Miss Maud Goff. He is 47 and white haired. She is not yet 17, with black tresses and a pretty face. He was known as one of the most accomplished card "sharps" and "brace" gamblers in the country before he became converted and gained fame as an evangelist. She had not finished her school days. And now they are married. The private car where they all lived is desolate, says the New York World.

Mr. Quinn has been touring the country for some months in his private car, the Roanoke, in company with Evangelist E. F. Goff and the latter's family. The car was side tracked in the yard north of the Pennsylvania railroad station in Jersey City a short time ago in order that the evangelist and the ex-faro man might conclude arrangements for a series of revival meetings in several Jersey City churches. Quinn and Maud Goff disappeared one day, and the girl's parents were astonished a few hours later by receiving a letter from New York City announcing that they were married. It is very dreadful to Mr. and Mrs. Goff, because it isn't comfortable to have a son-in-law older than one's self.

Fortune has smiled upon Quinn during the past two years. His book, "Fools of Fortune," an expose of gambling, has brought him in more than $500 a month. In addition he has been fortunate in making investments in Chicago. His evangelistic work, too, has been successful. About eighteen months ago Job H. Jackson of the Jackson-Sharp company of Wilmington placed at his disposal a beautiful private car named the Roanoke, after Quinn's native place. He was to pay for this as he chose. The evangelist has been going about the country in luxurious style conducting revivals. The Rev. Mr. Palmer has been associated with him during the greater part of the time.

Quinn's car is supplied with anti-gambling literature of all kinds, tracks, leaflets and books, part of which are given away freely and distributed as widely as possible. It also contains a collection of gambling implements and swindling devices, which are judiciously used to illustrate the vile practices of gamblers and confidence men. Mr. Quinn says the car in itself is a preacher, a teacher, a center of moral influence, a moving agency of good.

Hundreds of young men who have been losing their all at the races and gambling hells, many of their defaulters at the time, have come to the car and consulted Mr. Quinn after his meetings and confessed their sin, signed the anti-gambling pledge and resolved to begin a new life. Many confirmed gamblers' hearts have been touched by the earnest appeals made to them.

E. T. Goff, a Buffalo lawyer who has been connected with revival work for several years, became interested in Quinn. Last December he purchased a half interest in the car and entered upon the work with Quinn. He took his family on board with him—Mrs. Goff, a handsome woman; Maud, who will be 17 in four months, and Ward, a boy of 11.

The love-making between the elderly Quinn and the youthful Maud commenced some time ago and went on without any one but themselves being the wiser. To be sure, the jealous parents knew that Quinn admired their dainty daughter. Once they spoke to him about it. He said he loved both the children. All the same, Mrs. Goff guarded her daughter with jealous care, not because she is really feared anything, but because she is a mother. It never occurred to her that the child could fall in love with Quinn, who looks old beside Mr. Goff, in whose glossy black hair and side whiskers there is no trace of gray.

The parents remember now that Quinn would sometimes laughingly display a big roll of money and say his wife should have everything she wanted. There is a young and handsome man in Buffalo who is madly in love with Maud. Only the day of the elopement a letter came from him in which he said he should die if he lost her. Mr. and Mrs. Goff approved of this young man.

But the gentle Maud turned her eyes toward the gray haired ex-gambler. Perhaps it was the skill and grace with which he operated his gambling apparatus before the assembled multitudes in order to convince them they had no chance in trying to win money; maybe the dexterity with which he dealt "pat hands," "full houses" and "straight flushes" interested her; possibly it was his eloquence as a speaker. Like Desdemona, she may have loved him for the dangers he had passed.

Quinn has had a sensational career, which is more or less familiar to the public. He was born in Missouri, and until 1887 he was a gambler and confidence man of the sharpest type. He was convicted of swindling in Indiana and sent to prison for three years. It was afterward discovered that he was innocent, and Governor Gray pardoned him when the sentence was only half completed. Quinn was converted while in prison, and in 1887 he began to tour the country and deliver public addresses in which he illustrated the ease with which gamblers win at will from their victims. His lectures are given point by point by use of cards, far layouts, roulette wheels and all the paraphernalia necessary to cheating.

His first wife was Miss May Harvey, the daughter of Dr. W. C. Harvey of Roanoke, Mo. She ran away from boarding school to marry him. She died in 1870. He married Lily Boas, whom he met through an advertisement which he inserted in a newspaper, in 1882. She secured a divorce from him in 1887, when he was in prison.

DANGERS OF HIGH OFFICE.

Physical Perils That Surround Our Presidents—An Anecdote of Grant.

Possibly all of the presidents have had narrow escapes from death, though they knew it not until all the danger was over, says a correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer. There has never been such a system of safeguards as is now thrown about the person of President Cleveland. Not that he is physically timid, but the killing of

PRESIDENT GRANT DEFENDS HIS DOG.

Carter Harrison in Chicago and the general increase of cranks all through the country have combined to make the president and his friends careful.

President Harrison was notably careless of his safety and was often taken to task by his most intimate friends for his indifference to danger. It was not uncommon to see Harrison walking in remote, lonely sections of the city after nightfall, all alone and wrapped in meditation as he trudged along, seeing no one and fearing no evil.

President Harrison has never told the details of what might have been a tragedy in the White House. One night a young fellow about town, who was related to a United States senator, decided in a tipsy mood to break into the executive mansion. After mulling over some sort of a drunken threat to barroom companions, he turned suddenly and rushed to the rear of the White House grounds. He went up the steps leading to the private apartments. It was late at night, and all the family were asleep save the president. He was in his office up stairs when he heard a crashing of glass. The young ruffian was breaking his way in through a window. The president did not call for help, but rushed down stairs. The intruder was grappling with the big White House watchman, who found him an ugly customer to handle.

The president told in the situation, and also feared the effect of any excitement upon Mrs. Harrison, who was then nearing her end. While the watchman held the intruder the president ran to a window, grabbed and cut the long silk curtain cord, then tied the unwelcome visitor hand and foot. This done, help was summoned, and he was carried to the police station.

He was arraigned next day, but the president, not wishing any publicity, and, above all, not caring to appear as witness in a police court against a drunken reveler, declined to prosecute.

President Grant had a street fight during his first term with a man who was afterward found to be armed, and who might have shot the president in fancied self defense. Grant had a favorite dog which often went with him on walks and often strayed off. A stranger came along who did not recognize the president, but recognized the value of the dog.

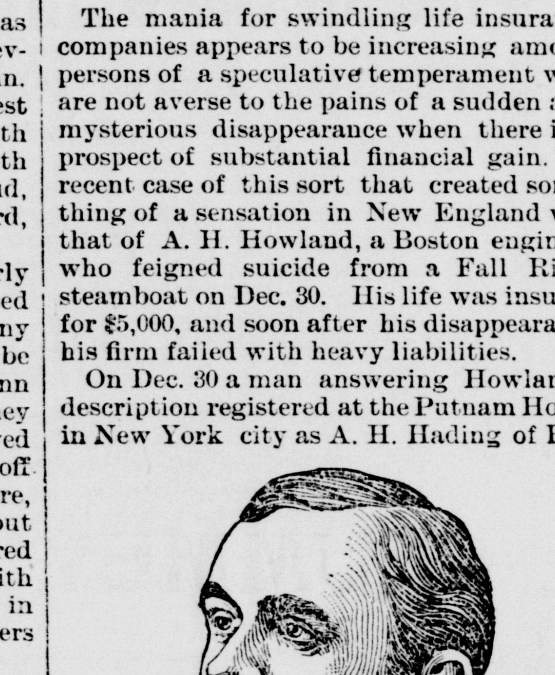

Grant discovered that the dog was being stolen and at once pitched into the thief with a good right hand blow and no words of explanation. Grant's love for his faithful beast made him forget the dignity of his high office, and he gave an exhibition of shoulder hitting which would be creditable to Corbett. It did not disturb Grant a bit to learn afterward that the dog stealer had a pistol in his pocket. "No man can steal my dog," said the general, "and I hit him good and hard."

THIS SWINDLER FAILED.

Unable to Recoup His Fortunes by the Mysterious Disappearance Act.

The mania for swindling life insurance companies appears to be increasing among persons of a speculative temperament who are not averse to the pains of a sudden and mysterious disappearance when there is a prospect of substantial financial gain. A recent case of this sort that created something of a sensation in New England was that of A. H. Howland, a Boston engineer who feigned suicide from a Fall River steamboat on Dec. 30. His life was insured for $5,000, and soon after his disappearance his firm failed with heavy liabilities.

On Dec. 30 a man answering Howland's description registered at the Putnam House in New York city as A. H. Howland of Boston.

A. H. HOWLAND.

ton. While there he forged a draft for $2,150, and failing to cash it again disappeared. Meanwhile the condition of Howland's affairs in Boston aroused the suspicions of the detectives, and with the assistance of New York reporters they finally traced Howland to Newark about a month after his supposed suicide. When found, he was completely prostrated and was glad enough to abandon the game he had undertaken. Writing to his wife, he said:

"I had frequent attacks of vertigo from day to day until they came on me every day. On one of the many nights that I lay awake thinking the situation over it occurred to me that you, my wife, and family would be better off if I were out of the way. You would have the homestead and the carriages. They would be yours, and you could get the redemption value of my life insurance policy. That would be enough for you to live on until I found means with new plans and a better chance of caring for you as I wished."

The first of the "new plans" for recouping his fortunes tried by Howland was forgery, and that failing he was without further resources. When found by the detectives, he had no money.

CRACKING SAFES.

Instructive Experiments Conducted by Government Experts.

The condition of the antiquated vaults of the United States treasury has induced the government, through a commission, to undertake some experiments in the art of burglarizing or blowing open safes. Charles E. Munroe, who conducted the investigation, spoke of the subject as follows to a Washington Star reporter:

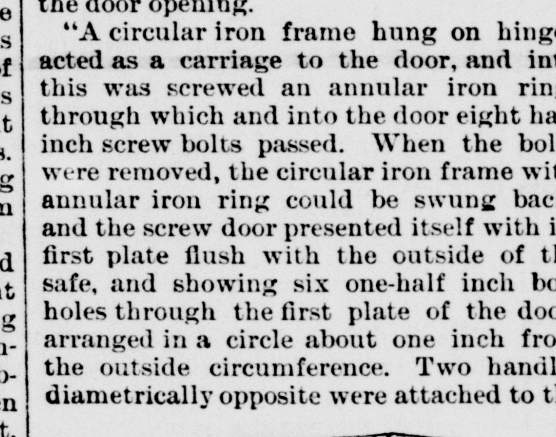

"By experiments of mechanical experts the commission showed that in a burglar's time and with tools at a burglar's command it was entirely possible to take off the laminae constituting the doors and walls of ordinary safes, and with drills and blowpipes to cut holes 4 inches in diameter through 4½ inches of the best metals—franklinite and other high resistants.

"Then by experiments which I conducted it was proved possible by attacks with fulminate of mercury, nitroglycerin, dynamite—all articles of ordinary commerce—to open any of the safes of square construction in less than an hour, often in a few minutes, and by the use of charges so small as to do no serious damage to the building or even to the contents of the safe, and without producing sufficient report to attract attention in the immediate neighborhood.

"The first method of attack was by the door. The common square, most generally used, and the circular, known as the screw door, but also of laminated or sheet construction, were found to yield quickly to a small quantity of nitroglycerin poured into the crack, which always exists in such construction between the door and jamb.

"In one of my experiments a safe taken from a bank was attacked. It had a screw door. The safe was 2 feet 5 inches cube, built up of eight alternate layers of iron and steel approximately one-half inch each in thickness and at the back about 4½ inches through. The screw door was composed of 10 one-half inch plates. The first and second plates were of iron, the third of steel, the fourth of steel, and then alternating till the tenth. It was built in five steps, the diameter of the first being 15 inches, and then each one inch smaller till the ninth and tenth. The last was 12 inches in diameter. These plates were fastened from within by screw bolts. An annular iron ring was fastened to the inside plate from the inside by 10 bolts and had a screwhead cut into its exterior circumference. This fitted into another annular iron ring fastened to the inside plate of the safe around the door opening.

"A circular iron frame hung on hinges acted as a carriage to the door, and into this was screwed an annular iron ring, through which and into the door eight half inch screw bolts passed. When the bolts were removed, the circular iron frame with annular iron ring could be swung back, and the screw door presented itself with its first plate flush with the outside of the safe, and showing six one-half inch bolt holes through the first plate of the door, arranged in a circle about one inch from the outside circumference. Two handles diametrically opposite were attached to the annular iron ring screwed into the iron frame hinged on the front of the safe. They were used to screw up and unscrew the door.

"The object of the test was to remove plate after plate and effect an entrance. First, one one-hundredth of an ounce of nitroglycerin was introduced, and plate 1, the least securely fastened, was removed. Then the amount of explosive was increased as the fastenings became stronger till one-fourth of an ounce was used upon the inner plates. The 10 plates were all removed and access to the contents of the safe obtained in 38½ minutes.

"As an example of the opening of the ordinary square door, the attack was upon a safe which was built for the Mercantile National bank of New York city. It was delivered to the commission locked and sealed as it came from the bank. It was 2 feet 8 inches high, 2 feet 8½ inches wide and 2 feet 2 inches deep on the outside. It was found to consist of six plates. The first outer plate was of wrought iron one-half inch thick; the second, wrought iron one-quarter inch thick. The third was one-half inch thick of three and five ply laminated welded steel and iron strips, presumably chrome steel, with turned corners, each plate being 6 inches wide. The fourth plate was of franklinite 1½ inches thick, cast in double basket work, one-quarter inch wrought iron rods laid in sections, with solid turned corners. The fifth was one-quarter inch wrought iron; the sixth, one-half inch wrought iron. The construction was excellent. The door was a fine specimen of its kind, being provided with tongue and groove and rubber packing. The bolting and locking was a beautiful piece of workmanship of the most elaborate and most approved kind. It was 2 feet wide and 5 feet high.

"The attack was begun by making a putty well at the edge of the door and pouring into the crevice between the door and the jamb 4.8 ounces of nitroglycerin. The explosive ran in rapidly, notwithstanding the fit was very close. No wedge was necessary. Eight minutes after operations began the charge was fired. The safe had been placed in a rough shed, and when all was ready everybody walked away to a distance of 50 feet. So slight was the report for which we were listening that the commissioners would scarcely believe any work had been done. We found that the whole jamb of the door was blown out and under the door a space left sufficient to admit the whole hand and arm into the safe.

"The plate of franklinite was shattered into fragments. The under door of the lower compartment was blown in, the dividing shelf between the lower and middle compartments was blown upward, the first three plates of the jamb were torn out down to the franklinite, and the first plate of the three-sixteenths of an inch was entirely stripped off. In eight minutes full access had been gained, by means easily at a burglar's command, into this large safe constructed for a metropolitan bank as burglar proof. This was but a type of many experiments, which demonstrated conclusively that with the ordinary safe of square construction, sometimes called the 'standard,' it is perfectly easy to gain access by small amounts of easily obtained and safely used explosives."

PERSONALITIES.

Lady Louisa Lytton, daughter of the late Earl Lytton (author of "Lancelotti"), is accounted an able journalist. Theultan of Turkey has 500 marriages. You see, his better half likes to go out all together once in a while.

An uncut copy of the first edition of Gray's "Elegy," published in 1757 at sixpence, was sold lately in London for $370.

Miss Deborah Knox, who preaches in Connecticut and Rhode Island, is said to be a descendant of John Knox, the Scotch reformer.

Jules Claretie paid a visit to Mlle. Rosa Bonheur recently, and he says that in spite of her seventy odd years she is bright and alert and quite youthful in manner.

Following the example of George Eliot, George Sand and George Fleming, Mrs. Clairmonte, who is coming into prominence as a novelist, calls herself "George Egerton."

It is announced that Lily Langtry is about to send out a novel with her name on the title page. Her memoirs, if written without mental or other reservation, would be interesting.

The late Henry Pettitt, the dramatist, sold his first play for a £5 note. During the last years of his life he is said to have enjoyed an income equal to that of the archbishop of Canterbury.

Congressman Thomas Settle of North Carolina is greatly annoyed by a young man (the M. C. is only a little over 30) who has been assuming his name and running up bills on it in New York.

Dr. Arbin de Freitas, one of the most famous physicians of Portugal and a member of one of its most illustrious families, has been sentenced to eight years' solitary confinement for poisoning his nephews and nieces.

Swami Vine Kananda, a Brahmist priest, is lecturing in the West on the manners and customs of India. His lectures are more on the outward aspects of Indian life than on the philosophy of the faith he represents.

The initial D in the name of John Rockefeller has not been there originally, having been adopted in later life by the millionaire because he thought he needed it to round out his name and make it look better on a check.

It is said that the real reason why Queen Victoria took up the study of Hindustani four years ago was in order that she might converse in their own tongue with the Indian princesses who came from time to time to pay their respects to her.

William A. Wheeler, ex-vice president of the United States, was once asked by a young man, a relative of his, to help him to procure a clerkship in one of the departments in Washington. His reply was about as follows: "If you apply for such a position, and will let me know when you do so, I will do all I can—to prevent your getting it."

Catarh in The Head.

Is undoubtedly a disease of the blood and as such only a reliable blood purifier can effect a perfect and permanent cure. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier, and it has cured many very severe cases of catarh. Catarh oftentimes leads to consumption. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla before it is too late.

Complication of Diseases. "I have not been well for years. I could not walk any distance, had rheumatism, and heart trouble and was very bad off. Could not sit up but a little while. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and improved with the first bottle. I have now taken seven bottles and can walk a mile and feel better every way. Hood's Pills cure life's ills. Mrs. L. M. E. Life or Death?

It is of vital importance that it should be understood by parents and children that this condition of things is finally indicative of a state of the organs where life hangs in the balance. Bright's disease, diabetes, albuminuria are all diseases of a very obstinate character in their mature stage, and all have a fatal tendency. They often baffie the most practiced medical skill, and the most approved remedies of modern medicine. But opposed at the outset—that is to say, when the kidneys begin to discharge their function inactive, with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the dangerous tendency is checked. Very useful, also, is this household medicine for those ailments of common occurrence, constipation, biliousness, dyspepsia and nervousness. It is a safeguard against malaria and averts chronic rheumatism.

INCIDENT AND ANECDOTE.

A very zealous speaker in the church remarked in a meeting the other evening that before he died he should like to "leave his footprints on the sands of time, with his toe pointing heavenward, that people might know which way he was traveling."

One Takahashi Ryozaaburo published a card in a Japanese paper at Sinda recently setting forth that he had become convinced that wine drinking was a ruinous habit, and giving due notice that he would drink only when invited by others to do so at their expense.

A young Irish girl, a recent importation, was employed in the family of the commandant of the Charlestown navy yard. She wanted to go out one evening and asked the housekeeper how she should get in the gate. "Simply say 'Resident' to the sentinels and they'll let you in," said the housekeeper. She came in later with her face flushed and looking angry. "Sure," said she, "they are all laughing at me down at the gate." "What did you say to them?" "Just what you told me. The sentinel asked: 'Who goes there?' and I said: 'The resident.'"

"Till it's getting awfully out of sorts these days." "No wonder. He's got twins and a perambulator, and the weather's so bad he daren't go out and trundle 'em up and down in front of the neighbors."

WOMAN'S HEROISM.

FEW PEOPLE REALIZE IT.

What Heroic Efforts They make to Appear Cheerful and Happy.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.] How many, think you, have any idea of the suffering endured by so large a proportion of the women of America?

Very few men have the slightest conception of the pain endured by so many women, even those of their own households, or the heroic efforts they make to appear cheerful and happy.

Women ought to be told just where the danger lies, for their whole future may depend upon their knowledge, and how to overcome it.

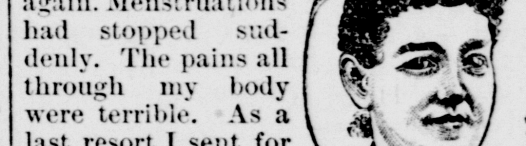

Lydia E. Pinkham solved the mystery after years of experience and study. She unerringly traced the cause of nearly all of woman's suffering to the womb.

Other years followed and her Vegetable Compound was given to the world.

And now, after years of marvelous success, it is acknowledged the unfailing remedy for all forms of female complaints, ovarian troubles, inflammation and ulceration, falling and displacements of the womb, irregularity, suppressed or painful menstruations, leucorrhoea, bloating, flooding, backache, nervous prostration, kidney trouble, etc., and is found on the shelves of all respectable druggists.

Such cases as this of Mrs. M. F. Fozy, of Campello, Mass., speak volumes. She says: "I was very sick. I did not ever expect to get up again. Menstruations had stopped suddenly. The pains all through my body were terrible. As a last resort I sent for a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and a box of her Liver Pills. I also used a package of her Sanative Wash.

"Relief came at once, and to-day I am a well woman. Menstruations regular, no backache, entirely cured of leucorrhoea and bearing down pains. Nothing equals Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

A VETERAN'S VERDICT.

The War is Over. A Well-known Soldier, Correspondent and Journalist Makes a Disclosure.

Indiana contributed her thousands of brave soldiers to the war, and no state bears a better record in that respect than it does. In literature it is rapidly acquiring an enviable place. In war and literature Solomon Yewell, well known as a writer as "Sol," has won an honorable position. During the late war he was a member of Co. B, 2d N. Y. Cavalry and of the 13th Indiana Infantry Volunteers. Regarding an important circumstance he writes as follows:

"Several of us old veterans here are using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, Hoar's Cure and Nerve and Liver Pills, all of them giving splendid satisfaction. In fact, we have never used remedies that compare with them. Of the Pills we must say they are the best combination of the qualities required in a preparation of their nature we have ever known. We have none but words of praise for them. They are the outgrowth of a new principle in medicine, and tone up the system wonderfully. We say to all, try these remedies."

—Solomon Yewell, Marion, Ind., Dec. 5, 1893. These remedies are sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co.,

NO MORE "FREE BREAKFAST TABLE"

Congress Puts a Tax on Sugar—Whisky Is to Pay $1.10

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The tariff bill has been submitted to the finance committee. The more important items in the tariff bill just presented to the full committee are as follows:

Sugar not above 80 degrees polariscope test, 1 cent per pound; for every additional degree or fraction not above 90 degrees, 1-10 of a mill additional; above 90 and not above 96, 2-10 of a mill per degree, and above 96 degrees, a duty of 1-4-10 cents per pound; molasses testing not above 50 degrees by the polariscope shall pay a duty of 2 cents per gallon; molasses testing above 50 degrees shall pay a duty of 4 cents per gallon.

Whisky at $1.10 per gallon and the bonded period extended from three to eight years. Iron ore, 40 cents per ton; lead ore, 3 cents per pound, including lead mixed with silver ore; coal, bituminous and shale, 40 cents per ton.

The income tax feature is left in the bill. That was a foregone conclusion, and the public might as well make up its mind that it will become a law.

The time for the bill to go into effect save in a few specific instances, is extended from June 1, 1894, to June 30, 1894. There will be more changes before the bill gets through the senate, and more when it gets into conference, but there is good reason to believe that the bill as it stands to-day will become law without many changes.

There is much criticism of the changes made by the senate committee. That was expected. But there is great relief that the committee has taken another decided step toward that goal which it should have reached a long time ago. The bill may possibly be reported to the senate by Saturday and debate begun some time next week, but it will not pass the senate before June 1, if then.

The internal revenue section of the bill covers the income tax, with many verbal but few essential changes. It makes a tax of 2 cents on every pack of playing cards, similar to the provisions in the Wilson bill; a tax on all tobacco, cigars and cigarettes weighing over three pounds per 1,000 of $5 per 1,000. Paper cigarettes weighing less than three pounds per 1,000 pay $1 per 1,000, and those wrapped in tobacco 50 cents per 1,000.

LEGISLATION IN THE HOUSE.

Bill to Reform the Method of Auditing Customs Passes.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The President transmitted some additional Hawaiian correspondence to the house yesterday. The senate bill to amend the act to establish the Smithsonian Institution was passed.

The conference report on the urgent deficiency bill was presented by Mr. Ayres and agreed to. A resolution of inquiry calling on the secretary of the treasury for a report of all unsettled claims up to date against the Southern and Central Pacific railroad and their branches and for transportation service was adopted.

Mr. Richardson of Tennessee, from the joint commission on expenditures in the executive departments, called up the bill to reform the method of accounting and auditing in the customs department of the treasury. The bill abolishes the office of commissioner and assistant commissioner of customs. The discussion over the bill took a wide range and was participated in by Messrs. Baker, Henderson, Hepburn, Cannon and Dockery. The bill was passed.

The house then went into committee of the whole for the consideration of the District of Columbia appropriation bill. After debate the committee arose and at 1:55 the house adjourned.

Seigniorage Bill Will Pass.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The Bland seigniorage bill came up in the senate at 2 o'clock yesterday.

Senator Sherman took the floor and asked that the bill be put back to the amendment stage. Senator Harris said rather testily: "This bill will not be put back by my consent, no so long as there is a majority in favor of the bill. I see no reason why the bill should not pass in thirty minutes."

Senator Sherman then addressed the senate in opposition to the bill.

He was followed by Senators Lodge and Higgins. The bill went over without action until to-day, when a vote will be taken.

The resignation of Senator White of Louisiana was announced. Senator Peffer denied a newspaper report that he and Senator Kyle had complained of unfair treatment at the hands of the finance committee.

Many Applications for Patents.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The largest number of applications for patents received in any week so far this year is recorded at that office for the week ending Tuesday. This fact is shown in a statement prepared at the office based on the official reports. The number was 899, which makes a total of 6,729 applications awaiting the examining corps.

French Navy Worthless.

TOULON, March 9.—The evidence which is being furnished to the commission charged with investigating the allegations made against the French navy and the coast defenses of France increases the gravity of the charges made. In substance it is asserted that the majority of the French war vessels are practically useless and that the French coast is almost at the mercy of an enemy with a large fleet, such as the one possessed by England.

PIGTAILED KNIGHTS OF THE ROAD.

Extraordinary Daring of Chinese Brigands Who Attacked the Imperial Escort.

Brigandage prevails in China to a greater extent than in any country in the world and is by no means confined to the more sparsely populated regions, but is practiced in the vicinity of the largest cities, writes a Shanghai correspondent of the New York Herald. Traveling in the neighborhood of Peking itself in late years grown quite dangerous from this cause—that is, for natives, for curiously enough the armed gangs of bandits whom I have myself met in the wilds of Mongolia, near the Amoor, without suffering any molestation, seldom attack the European wayfarer.

The daring of these pigtailed knights of the road, even at this late date, would put their confreres of Albania or Sicily to the blush, and no exploit of any European bandit can hope to vie with the following audacious coup by a gang of desperadoes who have long infested the low range of hills lying to the west of Peking:

THE EMPEROR OF CHINA.

Recently the emperor and his court, attended by a retinue numbering many thousands of men and women, courtiers and soldiers, were returning from the palace by the large lake in the park of Yuen Ming Yuen, distant only eight miles from the walls of the capital, to the winter palace inside the Forbidden City, when in the night the tail end of this vast imperial procession was suddenly cut off by a well-organized gang of bandits.

The main part of the procession passed on in blissful ignorance of the exciting episode behind. Little or no resistance was made, the eunuchs and ordinary attendants being either too terrified by the blood-thirsty appearance of the brigands, or, what is quite as likely, were too good friends with them to fight, and a number of carts and litters containing the paraphernalia of the court, furs, vessels, ornaments, embroideries, etc., as well as over 4,000 ounces of silver in specie, were carried off by the robbers, who also captured several eunuchs, one or two of whom are said to be favorites of the emperor. Booty and prisoners were safely conveyed to the retreats of the daring marauders in the neighboring hills.

It was only next morning that the news of this outrage reached the city, when immediately great preparations for capturing the brigands were set on foot, some 1,500 soldiers being dispatched to hunt them down. Great efforts were made to keep the affair from the ears of the emperor as well as from the foreign residents of Peking, and it is very unlikely that the former will ever hear of it. The robbers, however, are likely to be shown that they have gone too far this time, and they are certain to be exterminated, so great is the commotion their extraordinarily daring exploit has caused.

SHE DRANK DEVIL'S BLOOD.

But That and Other Love Potions Failed to Restore Miss Besam's Lover.

She drank the devil's blood. But Sarah Besam's fickle lover never came back to her. So she had Solomon and Lena Bernstein, who had been selling her love potions, arrested. When they were arraigned in a New York police court, she told this story to Justice Koch:

"I was formerly engaged to my cousin David, a jewelry peddler. About seven months ago he started to keep company with another girl, and I worried myself about it considerably. I had a card given to me which gave the address of the Bernsteins and stated that they were fortune tellers. Thinking that they could tell me how to regain my David's love, I went to see them. As soon as I stated the object of my visit I had my fortune told, which cost me 50 cents.

"Then Mrs. Bernstein told me I must see her husband about my sweetheart. I was taken into a private room, and there Bernstein said: 'You must give me a dollar and one cent.'

"I did so, and he wrapped it up in wadding and placed it between the mattresses of the bed. I asked him what he did that for, and he replied that it was a peace offering to the devil; if it was taken away during the night, whatever I wished for would be granted. Then he charged me an additional dollar for his fee, and I left the house.

"Next day I called again and was told that the devil had taken the money away, but had left orders that I was to buy a bottle of his blood, or I could not get what I wanted. I was so eager to regain my sweetheart's love that I bought a bottle of the red fluid which Bernstein guaranteed to be genuine devil's blood, and for which he charged me $6.65.

"There were no instructions on the bottle, but Bernstein told me to meet David that night, get a silver spoon and give my sweetheart one spoonful and drink the rest myself. If I did this, he said, David would love me more than ever he had done.

"I carried out his instructions to the letter, although David did not seem to like the blood, nor did he love me any more. So I again visited Bernstein, and he gave me a bottle of black fluid. He told me to get up at 2:30 a. m., go into the back yard in stocking feet and splash myself with the fluid when the moon would shine on me, and all my requests would surely be granted.

"I did as directed, but it was a cloudy night, and although I staid out for three parts of an hour and used the whole bottle of stuff the moon would not shine.

"Then I called on Bernstein again, and he sold me $10 worth of roots to make tea, which I and my lover were to partake of so that I would regain his love, but the tea failed to do its work. Altogether I spent $80 with Bernstein on roots, potions and love mixtures, but they were all unsuccessful."

Skirt Dancing in the Paris Bourse.

The skirt dancing craze has now seized hold of the Paris bourse, and the other day two young stockbrokers appeared on costume de ballet and gave free vent to sentiment and agility by their clever imitation of Italian and English skirt dancers, the dancing of Loie Fuller not being overlooked. Then the hat was sent round, and the proceeds of the impromptu affair, which reached a round sum, were given to the Children's hospital.

A Perfect Cure

Mr. Joel H. Austin is a man very highly esteemed by all who know him. He is now pension attorney at Goshen, Ind., and was for 20 years a Baptist missionary minister. He says: "I suffered years with swelling of my limbs, at times very painful, especially at night. I could not sleep. I have taken six bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and for weeks there has not been any swelling of my feet and limbs. I have also suffered for years with catarrh in the head, which was working down into my lungs. Since trying Hood's Sarsaparilla the pain in my head has stopped and I am positive of a perfect cure."

BENDER LOCKED UP FOR SIX MONTHS.

SENTENCE IN THE STABBING CASE ANNOUNCED.

Judge Phelps Discusses the Apparent Lack of Motive for the Assault—The Consequences Were Such as Might Come from the Meeting of Any Drunken Men.

In default of a $300 fine and $126.73 costs Jacob Bender goes to jail for six months. His sentence for the stabbing of James McNeese last fall was announced by Judge Phelps at 9 o'clock. Judge Phelps remarked on the fact that had Bender been convicted of the offense first charged—assault with intent to kill his punishment would have been from one to five years in state prison. The jury had evidently taken into consideration the absence of motive for murder and had made the verdict as favorable as possible. His honor said in the course of his remarks:

"The affray in which you made the assault appears from the evidence not to have been instigated by any cause other than the excessive use of intoxicating drinks. There does not appear to have been any premeditated revenge, avarice or passion on your part in the affray, and there appears to have been no intelligent design in the mind of any one having a part in the affray. The coming together of two or more drunken men was the inspiration of the transaction and the consequences such as are always likely to result from such a meeting and in this case a citizen came near losing his life. 'I could declare a sentence for your imprisonment in the penitentiary for a year with much less reluctance than I could for your confinement in the County jail for the same time. You are an old man, accustomed to manual labor and I fear that long enforced idleness in the jail would be ruinous to your health and of no benefit to your morals.

"I hope you have already carefully considered the importance of reform in your habits of drink and resolved to so dispose of the few years of this life that may be left to you as to command the respect and esteem due to a good citizen."

DARB GRIFFIN WAS GOING TO MOVE

Tried to Work a New Game on Drayman William Ward.

"Darb" Griffin worked a new confidence game yesterday and that is why the police are looking for him. Darb's throat got very parched yesterday and he sighed for a lubricant. William Ward, the drayman, was at the depot with his express wagon and Darb approached him.

"Good morning, Mr. Ward," said "Darb" pleasantly.

"Good morning," replied Mr. Ward dubiously.

"Say, Mr. Ward," said Darb, "I've got a lot of household goods in the depot that I want carted down to my family mansion. You lend me a quarter to-day and I'll give you the job and pay you for your work and the loan both to-morrow morning."

Mr. Ward wasn't advancing money on contracts, so "Darb" had to give up. Shortly after that Chief Acheson and Officer Kruse showed up, and they made "Darb" run the fastest half mile he ever made. He escaped into the fastness of the Fifth ward, but they'll get him sooner or later.

GAZETTE EXTRAS SOLD FAST.

Newsboys Made Big Money Off the Cough, in Verdict Last Night.

The only Janesville people who knew about the Coughlin verdict last night were those who read the Gazette. Neither the Milwaukee Journal nor the Evening Wisconsin nor any of the Chicago papers had the result of the great case.

The news came too late for the regular five o'clock edition of the city papers and The Gazette's regular edition was also out of the office before the news came but shortly after five o'clock an "extra" was put out on the street. The papers sold like hot cakes, boys coming in again and again for "another lot." They kept up the sale until 8 o'clock, the crowd on their way to the theatre making trade lively.

NO ROSTER CASE FOR HYZER.

Janesville Attorney Refused to Have Anything More to Do With It.

It is whispered around the street that defendants in the roster suit tried to move heaven and earth to keep Winans & Hyzer in the case. Mr. Winans was compelled to retire because of his health and Mr. Hyzer is said to have flatly refused to mix up with the matter in any way.

WILL SEEK FUNDS FOR Y.M.C.A. WORK.

BUILDING PROJECT BY NO MEANS DEAD.

Finance Committee to Start Out Next Week and Arrange for Funds Enough to Complete the Association's Home—Determined Efforts to be Made to Secure a Backing.

An organized systematic effort is to be made by Y. M. C. A. people to complete subscriptions for the new building on which work will soon commence. A fair response from its multitude of well wishers will secure to Janesville a building of which every one may well feel proud and a home for young men which is no untried experiment, but a power for good in every place where its usefulness has not been hampered by indebtedness. This object appeals strongly to philanthropic as well as christian men and to the appeal of the finance committee a support should be given that will place this worthy cause beyond a doubt of final and complete success. The finance committee expect to be in the field the coming week and hope to push it to a successful issue.

A Great Play.

Miss Agnes Herndon's great comedy drama "La Belle Marie" is one of the very few plays that can be said to please everybody. Its strong comedy, pathos, sentiment, thrilling denouement, startling climaxes and laughable oddities are so admirably blended together that there is not a dull moment from the rise to the fall of the curtain. The interest in the play is never allowed to lag, and the evening passes away before one is hardly aware of it. It is one of the truly great comedy and dramatic successes of the day, and will be seen at Myers Opera House, Tuesday evening, March 20.

A. O. WILSON IN THE ROSTER CASE

More Eye Witness Than Anything Else They Say Though.

A. O. Wilson went to Madison today, not as postmaster; not as editor, but just simply as roster jobber. Just what part the Janesville manager played in the affair is not known, but he is summoned as a witness the same as P. J. Mount and Otis Brand were. Whether or not the Recorder was to get a roster contract or not after awhile is now enveloped in what Bill Nye so feelingly called a "gob of uncertainty." They, say however, that the Recorder crowd are more eye witnesses than swearing-upon-oath witnesses.

AN EFFORT TO LYNCH A JANESVILLE MAN.

AN UGLY CHARGE MADE AGAINST MARSH REED.

Indignation Runs High at Beloit and a Weak Attempt Was Made to Pound Down the Jail Door and Hang Him. He is Now in jail Here in Default of Bail.

For safety from a crowd of people who tried to batter down the door to the Beloit lock-up and hang him, Marsh Reed, a former Janesville carpenter, was brought to this city this noon and placed in jail. Talk of lynching was very open, and although the attempt to get at him was a weak one, it is said that the feeling under the surface was very pronounced. The crime that Reed is said to have committed was an attempt to outrage a three-year old babe, the daughter of Harry Morris. He was arrested last night, and this morning had a hearing in the police court, and upon his plea of not guilty, he was bound over to the municipal court in the sum of $1,000. He could not secure bonds, and was brought to Janesville at noon. He is a married man, and formerly lived at Janesville. Indignation at Beloit is very high.

Reed is a man a size or two larger than Sheriff Bear. He says that he knows nothing about the affair with which he is charged. City Marshal Appleby, of Beloit, who brought Reed to Janesville, says that the mob visited the lock-up at three o'clock this morning and brought their ropes with them. Had they been very determined, however, they could have hanged Reed easily.

Rosenfeld Goes to Chicago.

Rosenfeld, the originator on the bridge, will leave for the east Sunday morning. On the way he will stop at Chicago for one week. SOME WHAT HUMOROUS

His Record Clear.
Old Lady—My friend, are you a Christian?
Beggar—Well, mum, no one has ever accused me of workin' on Sunday.—N. Y. Weekly.

In the Market.
"Is Miss Peachy of marriageable age?"
"Oh, yes! She has $100,000 in her own right."—Puck.

Foresight.
"It was really clever of me to bring my umbrella, for if it had rained I would have been drenched."—Hullo.

NATURAL ENOUGH.

First Fowl—I'm surprised to see that you're afraid of a Cog that's chained.
Second Fowl—Well, I can't help being chicken-hearted.—Truth.

A Shade Too Yielding.
Binks—Why so gloomy?
Jinks—My wife let me have the last word in an argument this morning.
"What of that?"
"That shows that she is going to do as she pleases, anyhow."—N. Y. Weekly.

A Great Mistake.
"I have just had my photograph taken."
"Ah, indeed."
"Yes, I have always had my photograph taken once a year."
"Dear me, what a lot of pictures you must have."—Texas Siftings.

Her Joke.
Heiress—There's a man after my own heart.
Papa—Who?
Heiress—The count. But he won't get it!—N. Y. World.

Nothing to Talk About.
Bingo—Do you do much talking at the woman's guild you've joined?
Mrs. Bingo (sadly)—No. All the women in the neighborhood belong to it.—Judge.

Maiden Meditation.
Maude—I wonder—
Sue—What do you wonder?
Maude—I wonder if Charley ever wonders if I am thinking of him.—Puck.

The Right Size of Extinguisher.
Cholly—My bwa-in is on fire.
Miss Caustique—Quick! Somebody bring an atomizer!—Chicago Record.

His Resort.

"Are you the celebrated Mme. Bombastion?" he asked, after he had climbed four flights of stairs and was admitted into a mysterious apartment.
"Yes," replied the bizarre-looking personage who had received him.
"The great clairvoyant?"
"And you foretell the future?"
"Yes."
"And read the mind?"
"Yes."
"And unfold the past?"
"Yes, yes."
"Then," said the visitor, as he took a roll of bills from his pocket eagerly, "tell me what it was my wife asked me to bring home for her to-night!"—Harper's Bazar.

A Disinterested Business Tip.

Mrs. Hyflye—George, dear, while you are having money troubles I ought to tell you that I learned to-day why your rival Soapem's credit has suddenly become so good.
Mr. Hyflye—Why?
Mrs. Hyflye—I overheard some one remark that Soapem's finances must be all right because his wife was wearing such elegant new hats and dresses.—Chicago Record.

Unfortunate Fortune.

Clergyman—But what brought you to this condition? Was it drink?
Tramp—Nope!
Clergyman—Gambling?
Tramp—Well, in a sort of way.
Clergyman—What sort of a way?
Tramp—Well, I bet on a horse in a race for the first time in my life.
Clergyman—Ah! I see! It lost!
Tramp—O, no! It won!—Hullo.

A Maiden's Sarcasm.

"I came to see, Miss Sprite, if you would look more favorably upon my suit to-day."
Miss Sprite (adjusting her eyeglass and scrutinizing him from head to foot)—Yes, sir, I do. I think it looks better than the old one you wore the last time you were here.—Demorest's Magazine.

A Warning.

Little Johnny—Oh, mamma, folks say Tommy Dodd's back is broke.
Mamma—Horror! How did it happen?
Little Johnny—I didn't hear, but Tommy told me only last week that his mamma was just as fond of spankin' as you are.—Good News.

Sure Enough.

"He pretends to be an accomplished linguist, but you should hear him murder Latin."
"I shouldn't think he would be able to murder Latin."
"Why not?"
"It is a language that is already dead."—N. Y. Press.

"I have used Hood's Sarsaparilla for sick headache and find it the best medicine I ever used." Lou Muchmore, Beloit, Wis.

JESTS AND JIBES.

"What makes Mrs. Blower so huffy and cross?" "She has persuaded the minister to accept an invitation to dinner."

"How did you learn that old Kicker would make a good addition to our football team?" "Dodger—I asked him for his daughter's hand."

Night Clerk—Wake up, wake up, sir! There are burglars in the billiard room. Proprietor, sleepily—Charge 'em sixty cents an hour.

"Was she what you would call a fine singer?" "I don't know." "Didn't you hear her?" "Yes, but I didn't think to ask Tom what the price of the ticket was."

"Have you had your new house insured, Mrs. Dwight?" "Yes." "Your husband is afraid of fire, then?" "Mercy, yes; he will leave the house any time before he will make one."

"Kind sir, pray give me a shilling for my hungry children?" "Awfully sorry, but I'm not buying hungry children just now; fast is, I've got nine of my own at home already."

Kadds—I don't see the sense to the saying that reading maketh a full man. Do you? Kadds—Er—yes, if he reads the right sort of stuff. Kadds—What, for instance? Kadds—Bills of fare.

"I HAVE used Hood's Sarsaparilla for sick headache and find it the best medicine I ever had." Lou Muchmore, Beloit, Wis.

Try It.

For a lame back or a pain in the side or chest, try saturating a piece of flannel with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bind it onto the affected parts. This treatment will cure any ordinary case in one or two days. Pain Balm also cures rheumatism. 50 cent bottles for sale by Stearns & Baker.

Serofula, whether hereditary, or acquired, is thoroughly expelled from the blood by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier.

The Advertising.

Of Hood's Sarsaparilla is always within the bounds of reason because it is true; it always appeals to the sober common sense of thinking people because it is true; and it is always fully substantiated by endorsements which, in the financial world would be accepted without a moment's hesitation.

For Over Fifty Years.

Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Sold by all druggists throughout the world.

A Contractor's Advice.

Dullam's German Medicine Co.—Gentlemen! I take great pleasure in testifying in behalf of Dullam's German Blood, Liver, Stomach and Kidney Cure. I can safely say that I never took such medicine as that to cleanse the stomach and kidneys. I was suffering for years with biliousness, indigestion and loss of appetite and sleep. One bottle did for me more good than six months' other treatment, and I feel it my duty to testify in its behalf, so others may try it and get cured.

Yours truly, Mrs. McDONALD, Midland, Mich.

SONG.

There's beauty in the dawning light,
And twilight fair or starlit night
Has each its charm and grace,
But lovelier still on earth to me,
The fairest thing my eye can see—
The beauty of thy face.

There's calmness on the ocean's breast,
And deep and blue it seems to rest
'Neath blue heavens above,
But deeper, calmer, still to me
Than ever sea or sky can be,
Thine azure eyes, my love!

There's music in the running stream,
And music when the woodlands seem
Awake with songs of birds,
But sweeter, dearer, still to me
Than nature's voice can ever be,
The music of thy words.

—G. Roxby in Chambers' Journal.

A QUAKER JULIET.

In the beginning of the present century Philadelphia was a quaint and picturesque city. Commercial greed had not obliterated old landmarks, and picturesque features were protected alike by municipal ordinances and public sentiment. Rows of fine trees bordered the streets, and these were tended and cared for by householders. This was especially the case on Third, near Walnut, which was made beautiful by a line of sycamores reaching to Spruce street.

On the Walnut street side were three two story brick houses, each having gardens on the street, and in the one nearest Dock at the close of the eighteenth century lived Richard Pennell, an Englishman and a Quaker. He was tall and strongly built and so austere in face that it was generally believed he had never laughed in his life and was regarded as an excellent illustration of the popular opinion as to Quaker babies. But although dry and saturnine in manner Pennell was an upright Christian man and did many kindly acts in a quiet way. But all the same it was an instance of the caprice of nature that he should be the father of a girl so peerlessly beautiful as Polly Pennell.

She was now 19, his only daughter. Her two brothers were at sea following their father's calling, as he had been a mariner the greater part of his life. Polly's mother was a member of the Church of England in her youth, and although her daughter was ostensibly a Quaker she secretly rebelled against the narrow, colorless life that pervaded and ordered her father's household.

It goes without saying that Miss Polly did not want admirers, but the father was unceasing in vigilance and repulsed advances with a bluntness unmitigated by any conventional civility.

At this time there was but one family in the state that, tried by recognized standards, could claim to be aristocratic, and that was the Hamiltons of the Woodlands.

The eldest and most beautiful of the Hamilton girls was Rebecca. This young lady regarded the usual social conventions as restraints made for common people and so disdained them, made friends with whom she pleased and yet was every inch an aristocrat and grande dame.

After much persuasion Mr. Pennell had permitted his daughter to take lessons in music from Mrs. Genet, and here Polly met Becky Hamilton, who at once became the beautiful Quaker girl's fast friend, and not long afterward, just as the Arch street meeting was dismissing on Sunday, after enjoying an exhilarating period of silence for two hours, they were amazed by the appearance of Miss Hamilton of the Woodlands sailing down Arch street in the dress of the time—a beaver hat two feet in the brim, crowned with feathers like a bunch of broom corn, leg of mutton sleeves, muff and gloves laced to the elbows, attended by her colored groom in laced hat and coat. The dauntless young lady folded Polly in her ample embrace, kissed her, and in her usual resolute voice proposed then and there that she come out to the Woodlands to dinner.

Like a flock of startled hens the Quaker matrons rescued Polly from the wilderness of tulle and india muslin, the fashionable dress of the time. Miss Rebecca laughed joyously as she resigned her friend and walked away, and then poor Polly was taken in hand, warned, entreated to avoid the world's people and their vanities, etc., and reached home upon the whole not displeased with the adventure.

Before the week was out she had visited the Woodlands, had seen the pictures and was led in to dinner by a very handsome young gentleman from Virginia described by Miss Becky in her court speech as a "Jimmy Jessamy from the Tidewater," name Francis Dulaney. The dress of this gentleman would surprise a nineteenth century belle, although it was de rigueur 100 years ago. A canary waistcoat rigged with flowers in red silk, claret colored coat with deep cuffs, laced steel buttons big as toy saucers, claret breeches and stockings, buckled shoes and steenkirk cravat smartly laced. Very commonplace people looked like stately gentlemen in such apparel, while in the hideous uniform of today the Apollo Belvidere might without discrimination be taken for the butter or undertaker.

Mr. Dulaney made himself very agreeable. He told of his life in London when he had been a student, of his lonely plantation in Virginia, his widowed mother and sister who had married in England, and Polly, to her surprise, felt as if they had been friends for a long time, and then Becky carried her off, warning Mr. Frank that he must not go philandering about Third and Walnut, as it would make trouble. On the road home the girls had a long talk, and Polly made up her mind that the first era in a girl's life had opened for her. She had a lover, and as is always the result, such knowledge gave her, with a sense of responsibility, a new feeling of self confidence and respect.

It was a fact. Mr. Francis Dulaney was in love with the beautiful Quakeress, and Becky Hamilton took charge of the courtship with characteristic energy. After three months spent in alternate hopes and fears Francis Dulaney proposed and was accepted by Mary Pennell, and at once Frank announced his intention of calling on her father.

Next morning that gentleman found himself standing in front of an utter stranger, handsome and well dressed, who announced himself as a suitor for the hand of his daughter. The old sailor had never been so taken aback, but after many earnest words and entreaties declared himself as firmly and unalterably opposed to such a union, and his visitor departed.

And now the hardest was to come—to see and reproach his daughter for her infraction of duty and respect to her parent. He sent for her. Never had she seemed so beautiful, but there was something matured, a quiet firmness in her eyes he had not noticed before, and to his amazement he learned that she had pledged her faith and would keep it. He had bent refractory men to his will, but knew that he was powerless here, yet resolved to try.

He had a maiden sister in New York, and he at once sent for her. Aunt Patience was not a bad woman according to her lights, but looked on a love affair as a device of the evil one, to be met and baffled at any and all risk. Her niece met her with firmness and refused to give any pledge of renunciation whatever, and with her hand on her lover's last letter declared her fidelity to him while life lasted. She was forbidden to leave the house unless attended by her aunt, who had begun to rule like a she Torquemada and made every one, including her brother, weary of life.

But an arrangement for action was made. Mr. Pennell had never yielded in his life and, moreover, believed he was promoting his daughter's temporal and spiritual welfare in hindering her marriage with a worldly person, and he had resolved to take passage for England, accompanied by Polly, and this arrangement he supposed to be entirely secret.

In the early part of October, 1800, he left the house on some business errand, while Miss Patience, after giving every one a blowing up, retired to her room to arrange it. She had not sooner entered than the watchful Creechey looked it on the outside. Gid, Mr. Pennell's own black servant, a crusty old fellow, was sent into the cellar and secured by the padlock, and then Polly, looking charming, but rather pale, came down stairs, paused a moment on the threshold and then bade farewell to her old home.

Followed by her maid, she crossed into Third street, and there under the big buttonwood that was standing at the corner of Willing's alley until 1851 was the Hamilton tithery, and in a moment her hands were clasped by her lover and Miss Hamilton.

"Drive like the dence, Solomon," was the command, and in half an hour they reached the Woodlands. It was a joyous party. Becky and her two sisters ordered everything done at once. John Inskeep, who had been inaugurated mayor of Philadelphia a few days before, performed the marriage ceremony. Andrew Hamilton gave away the bride, and all were happy.

Mr. Pennell returned to find a crowd in front of the house, attracted by the yells of Aunt Patience and Gid, seeking release. He went to England shortly afterward and died unreconciled to his child.

After a few years' residence at Curl's Neck, in Virginia, the Dulaney removed to England. Rebecca Hamilton married unhappily, and the sad story of her life is told in the suit at law brought in our courts by her husband, O'Boine, to break the prenuptial agreement made between the hapless pair at the time of their marriage.—Philadelphia Times.

SHAD FLIES.

"You can talk about the mosquitoes of New Jersey or Florida," said C. T. Tappan of Oswego, "but they will not compare with the shad flies on the St. Lawrence river in the month of June. The shad fly will neither bite nor sting, but he comes in greater quantities than the locusts of Egypt. Doors have to be closed, and boys stand in the hotels to sweep the insects off the guests as they enter. They come like a cloud, or more like a blinding snowstorm, and when they first swarm objects cannot be distinguished across the street.

"I went boating on the river at one time when they made their appearance, and soon I was covered with them, the bottom of the boat was hidden from view, the surface of the river was strewn with their bodies, and the air was dark with them. I attempted to row back to Prescott and pulled hard in the direction I supposed it to be, but when I finally reached the shore I discovered that I was five miles away, and it took me several hours to get to my destination. I have heard of being lost in snowstorms, but this was the only time I ever experienced being lost in a cloud of flies."

Wisconsin's Spanish Named Town.

Probably the only town in Wisconsin that can boast a name of Spanish origin is Boscobel. This is how it happened, according to Mr. Ed Meyer of that place: During the summer of 1855 Mr. John Mortimore, a civil engineer in the employ of the Milwaukee and Mississippi Railroad company, drove here with his wife through the sand deserts from Muscoda—there was no town here then. When they came within view of the present site of Boscobel, Mrs. Mortimore, who was a lady of culture and understood something of the Spanish language, exclaimed, "Bosco-Belle, what a beautiful grove!" After that Mr. Mortimore and C. K. Dean surveyed and platted the city and chose the name Bosco-Belle at the suggestion of the former's wife.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

A Modern English Gentleman.

This recipe to make "a modern English gentleman" is offered by Mr. Labouchere: "Wash a large, red stock jobber, brush and trim, baste all over with money, arrange in a luxurious west end house, surround with puff paste, then serve up hot. Will keep for months."

A Whimsical Chap.

Once tried to quote Bulwer (was it Bulwer?) and said, "Great actors from little toe corus grow," and altho' he didn't exactly quote he got there as it were, with both feet, at least with a part of both.

"To be or not to be," said Shakespeare, (or Bacon?) and he to, may not be far off. Foot it over hills and dale, 'til you are weary and foot sore, and you cannot find such bargains as we offer in building sites, Homesites, for on these and the prices of the same and terms, too, we always did "use the mark." For some reason we are this spring getting onto the goods, the prices and the terms with both feet. And so, with Hamlet we soliloquize: "The wonder grows", why people are not "up in arms" when the prices we quote are looked into. You can get a home, if you wish, so long as we are in the business; hard times don't count. If you are not earning so much money as you did last year, we will meet you; it don't matter.

Homesites and Homes are our fad; to help people get 'em is what we are on earth for, this time.

The main secret, we suppose, why we always get the major part of the real estate trade going, is that we own a large part of the property that we offer. Another part of the secret is, we deal every time so that our customer sends to us his or her friend when they want to deal.

Our beginnings here were not large, but so true it is that "Great oaks from little acorns grow," that the "birds of the air" have their homes,—build their nests,—in the result of our grain of mustard seed. Come over and roost with us. Yours very truly,

GEO. L. & SARAH H. CARRINGTON.

Catarrh AND GOLD IN THE HEAD

relieved instantly by one application of

Birney's Catarrh Powder

Rev. FATHER CLARKE, Secy to the Rt. Rev. Bishop of Columbus, Ohio, writes: "GENTLEMEN—I cannot say enough for your Powder. It has cured me of an aggravated attack of catarrh when nothing else could help me. Am delighted with it. All my friends to whom I administered samples are quite enthusiastic over it. The good sisters speak most encouragingly of their use of it in the Hospital under their care. I will do anything to speak a good word for the remedy for help others who are suffering."

Full size bottle of powder and blower COMPLETE, postpaid, 50c. Birney Catarrh Powder Co. 1288 MASONIC TEMPLE, CHICAGO. Sold every where by druggists or direct by us.

THE OVERWHELMING, THE OVERPOWERING, OVERTOWERING SALE

OF

Fine Clothing and Gents' Furnishing Goods.

DURING THE PAST FOUR WEEKS

WILL CLOSE TOMORROW NIGHT

Your opportunity, yes yours, at ROSENFELD'S.

Tomorrow bargains will fly thick and fast, and will be like the snow flakes as they fall upon the waters--a moment seen then gone forever--lost to view among the happy, pleased and delightful buyers. The bargains will all be snapped up like a shot, they are so real, so good, so true and there are none others like them. With that force of speech which characterizes the American language we could discourse a whole sermon to you. But we don't care to do it, we will keep within our limit and give more common sense than is sometimes spread over whole pages.

There is not much use naming prices. Tomorrow and night is the last day.

Everything lower than the Lowest.
